Stefan Skarin appointed new CEO of Nocom

The Board of Directors of Nocom AB (publ), listed on Stockholmsbörsen O-list, has appointed Stefan Skarin new CEO of the company.

Stefan Skarin is 38 years old and has previously held positions as Sales Director of Adobe Systems Nordic AB and CEO of Interleaf Nordic AB, as well as several leading international positions within Oracle Corporations. Stefan Skarin is currently Managing Director of Nocom Communications, Nocom's largest business area, and he has been a member of the Nocom Group Management since January 2000.

"Since Nocom went public in 1999, a number of acquisitions and substantial strategic investments have been made. Our main focus will now be on sales and marketing", says Anders Jonson, chairman of the Board for Nocom.

"We will focus primarily on those areas where we are successful in creating value for our customers. We offer competitive solutions for e-relations, as well as world-leading services for the travel and transport industry – not the least through our recently launched e-channel center", says Stefan Skarin.

Former CEO Tomas Nygren has left the company after four years of successful contribution to the company's development.
