

XMReality to supply Nestlé with Remote Guidance technology

XMReality will supply Nestlé, the Swiss-based food and beverage company, with its Remote Guidance technology. Today the two companies signed a global Master Service Agreement. The Master Service Agreement is open in term and volume and will as such not guarantee any order volumes. The XMReality solution will be employed primarily in Nestlé production sites to improve efficiency. The initial order value is around SEK 900 000 and will cover the remaining part of 2020.

“We are very proud to sign this Master Service Agreement and add Nestlé to our customer base. We will now work together to take the next step with Remote Guidance. The agreement is a clear sign of maturity of the technology and a well packaged XMReality product that is easy to deploy. We look forward to work with Nestlé and will do our utmost to make their application of Remote Guidance a success”, says Jörgen Rimmelg, CEO at XMReality.
