

XMReality receives order from Coor

XMReality has received an order from Coor, a leading provider of Facility Management services in the Nordic region, for licenses of XMReality Remote Guidance. The contract is a subscription agreement with automatic renewal. The main area of use is maintenance within Facility Management and to begin with, the service will be used for the Swedish market.

“This is another customer in Facility Management, an area where we are seeing increased demand. The order is thus in line with our strategic focus on becoming strong in this particular vertical. We have very recently attended one of Coor's internal conferences to spread information about the service and support them in their initial rollout phase, and so far we have received a very positive response. We are now looking forward to a successful continued collaboration.” says Andreas Jonsson, CSO at XMReality.
