

Graa Arkitekter becomes part of XPartners

XPartners is expanding its Danish platform within architecture, engineering, fire safety and client advisory and welcomes Graa Arkitekter to the group.

Based in Odense, Graa Arkitekter is one of the most prominent firms within public housing, educational facilities and fire safety consultancy in Southern Denmark. Graa provides multidisciplinary advisory services within construction, including architecture, fire safety, landscape, and client advisory across the full project lifecycle. Graa supports clients throughout the entire process, from early concept development and planning through design and statutory approvals to construction management and site supervision. The firm employs 21 people and has been in operation since 1974.

"We are pleased to welcome a strong and well-run business. Graa has built a solid position as a highly regarded local partner within the construction sector, and their professional standards and approach are a strong fit for XPartners. Graa strengthens our geographical presence in Funen and Southern Denmark and represents a strong complement to PLH and the other companies within XPartners in terms of both clients and competencies, opening up new and exciting opportunities for clients and employees alike," says Rasmus Ødum, Managing Director of XPartners Denmark.

For Graa, this represents a significant step towards accessing new markets, larger projects and a strengthened organisational platform.

"We have always focused on developing and future-proofing Graa Arkitekter. By becoming part of XPartners' rapidly growing Danish platform of professionally strong companies and entering into close collaboration with PLH, with whom we share both values, professional standards and approach, we are setting the course for our future development. This gives us access to new competencies and a stronger setup that we look forward to bringing into play for our clients and partners," says Kristian Hvass, Partner and Director at Graa Arkitekter.
