

Finnish consultancy Optireal joins XPartners

XPartners continues to grow in Finland and now welcomes Optireal Oy to the group. The company specializes in building services engineering for the construction and real estate sector. Services include commissioning, supervising, and implementing building systems. The acquisition strengthens the group's capabilities within the construction sector, adding specialist know-how in building services.

Founded in 2019, Optireal is headquartered in Helsinki with an additional office in Tampere. The company employs nearly 20 specialists and provides services in commissioning, supervising, and implementing building systems. Its clients include property developers, construction firms, housing cooperatives, public sector organizations, and engineering companies.

"Optireal brings valuable expertise in HVAC, electrical, and plumbing engineering, strengthening our presence in Finland. We are very pleased to welcome them to the group and see great opportunities for collaboration, particularly in construction and energy efficiency projects," says Vesa Koskelainen, Managing Director at XPartners Finland.

"With XPartners, we have chosen a path of growth, development, and opportunity. Arrangement will not disrupt our daily operations. Optireal will remain Optireal. Employment, client relationships, and projects will continue as before. We will maintain our focus on enabling functional and fit-for-purpose building technology. In the long term, we expect this arrangement to create new opportunities to grow our customer base and to access new types of projects. This enables growth, development and new exciting opportunities for our staff and clients," says Janne Gustafsson, CEO of Optireal.
