

Swedish company RED Management joins XPartners

XPartners is strengthening its real estate development offering in Sweden and welcomes RED Management to the group. The company provides qualified advisory and project management services and adds specialised competence within commercial development projects.

RED Management was founded in 2012 and is headquartered in Stockholm. The company has a team of around 30 professionals and provides advisory and management of real estate development projects for Swedish and international property owners and developers. Services include analysis, due diligence, planning amendments, sustainability, owner's representative services, and project management. In the most recent financial year, the company generated just over SEK 60 million in revenue.

"We are very pleased to welcome RED Management to XPartners. The company brings deep expertise in advisory and management of real estate development projects and strengthens our offering within commercial real estate. Through the XPartners network, we create strong opportunities for collaboration with other companies in the group and for offering more clients an integrated and highly capable team," says Magnus Trollius, Managing Director, XPartners Sweden.

The customer base consists of leading real estate players with long term development plans, which provides stable demand and strong potential for deeper collaboration within the XPartners network.

"We are very proud to join XPartners. Being able to remain RED Management, with our culture and way of working, while gaining access to a larger platform and broader expertise, is a significant strength. We believe that the combination of an entrepreneurial environment and a strong network will create even greater value for both our employees and our clients," says Sophie Löfving, CEO, RED Management.
