Bk Beräkningskonsulter becomes part of XPartners

XPartners is strengthening its cost consultancy and technical specification offering by welcoming Bk Beräkningskonsulter to the group. The company is Sweden's largest independent consultancy in cost estimating, technical specifications and bills of quantities for buildings and civil works, with 45 years in the industry and around 800 assignments a year.

Founded in 1981, Bk Beräkningskonsulter has offices in Stockholm, Gothenburg and Gävle and around 25 employees. It supports clients across the construction industry with cost estimates, technical specifications referring to AMA Hus and AMA Anläggning standards, and bills of quantities. It is also engaged as an expert witness in construction disputes. Revenue in the latest financial year was approximately SEK 45 million.

"We welcome Bk Beräkningskonsulter to the group with high expectations. They hold a position in cost estimating and specifications that no other independent firm in Sweden comes close to, and in the projects where we already work together we have seen what that means for clients," says Magnus Trollius, Managing Director, XPartners Sweden.

Its assignments come from public sector clients, contractors, property owners and architectural firms, and cover both new build and refurbishment across a broad range of building and civil works projects, at every stage of the construction process and under all forms of contract. Bk Beräkningskonsulter operates across Sweden and is certified to ISO 9001 and ISO 14001.

"We are proud to now become part of XPartners. Being able to continue as Bk Beräkningskonsulter, with the same specialisation and the same way of working, has been decisive for us. We also gain a wider network to collaborate in and exchange experience with, which benefits both our clients and our employees," says Johan Anderberg, CEO of Bk Beräkningskonsulter.
