

Swedish company Pragmakon AB joins XPartners

XPartners is strengthening its offering in industrial IT, automation and electrical engineering by welcoming Pragmakon AB to the group. Pragmakon is a fast-growing technical consultancy delivering value-adding expertise in technical project management, design and engineering, system installation and integration, as well as inspections.

Pragmakon was founded in 2021, is based in Stockholm and has around 20 employees. The company specialises in industrial IT, automation and electrical engineering, operating across energy, infrastructure, real estate, industry and water and wastewater. Services include technical project management, design and engineering, system installation and integration, electrical and instrumentation engineering, as well as training, procurement, safety reviews, risk assessments and inspections. In the most recently reported financial year, net sales amounted to SEK 37 million.

“We are pleased to welcome Pragmakon to XPartners. They add sharp expertise in automation, industrial IT and electrical design that strengthens our delivery across energy, industry and infrastructure. With Pragmakon’s execution focus and long-standing client relationships, we can jointly offer more integrated assignments from feasibility through commissioning,” says Magnus Trollius, Managing Director, XPartners Sweden.

Pragmakon offers the full chain from feasibility and project management to installation and construction management, system integration and electrical and instrumentation engineering, complemented by training, procurement, safety reviews, risk assessments and inspections.

“Joining XPartners is a natural next step. With a larger Swedish and Nordic network, we can take greater end-to-end responsibility in complex automation projects while continuing to be Pragmakon, with the same focus on quality, expertise, and results,” says Mikael Balogh, CEO of Pragmakon AB.
