Soltech company Takbyrån's solar transformation successful – largest installation to date

Takbyrån i Alingsås is one of the Soltech Group's roofing companies that has successfully transformed from being a traditional roofing company to becoming a solar roof company. A transformation that creates business advantages. The company has now signed a solar energy agreement with the car dealer Börjessons Bil for a 2,300 sqm solar solution to be installed at their car showroom in Alingsås. Construction will start in mid-April.

Takbyrån was founded in 2014 and specializes in roofing contracting and solar energy services for private individuals and companies. In 2021, the company became part of the Soltech Group and has in recent years been transformed into a solar roof company, in line with Soltech's transformation strategy. In 2023, Takbyrån also made a bolt-on acquisition when Vårgårda Solenergi became part of Takbyrån. The bolt-on acquisition helped strengthen the company's expertise in solar energy and accelerated the transformation to become a solar roof company.

The transformation creates competitive advantages and business opportunities as the company can now offer solar energy solutions to existing customers. Something that has now happened when Takbyrån are going to install a 2,300 sqm solar system for Börjessons Bil i Alingsås on a roof that they themselves previously laid. Solar energy manager Daniel Fritzon tells us more about the assignment and the advantage of having both roofing and solar energy competence within the company.

– We are grateful for the confidence shown in us by Börjessons Bil, which is now making a major climate investment. The fact that we have been entrusted with this project shows that our investment in both roofing and solar energy creates major business advantages for us. It also feels great to contribute to our customers' green transition through our broadened offering, says Daniel Fritzon, Solar energy manager at Takbyrån i Alingsås.
