

QleanAir Scandinavia K.K. signs a large order for high-performance air purifiers with NEC Networks & System Integration Corporation

QleanAir Scandinavia K.K. ("QleanAir") has entered in a partnership with NEC Networks & System Integration Corporation (NESIC) Group in Minato-ku, Tokyo and will install a total of 33 units of QleanAir FS 30 and one QleanAir FS 70, a high-performance industrial air purifier. QleanAir FS 30 / 70 use powerful push-pull suction and exhaust technology to collect fine dust particles and clean indoor air in large offices / warehouses.

– We feel that QleanAir's products are useful for our company's goals of creating a comfortable workplace and promoting health management. (Facility & BCP General Manager, NESIC)

NESIC has already installed some units and they signed the additional contract. The installation is scheduled for November / December. This air purification solution uses a multi-layered filter structure and is supported by regular maintenance through QleanAir staff to ensure long-term performance.

– We are very pleased to be able to contribute to building a better air environment through this partnership. We will continue to deliver our technology and our passion for the environment as a solution to as many people as possible. (Glen Shimizu, President of QleanAir Scandinavia K.K.)
