

BeammWave Returns to the Lejonkulan Podcast

BeammWave's CEO Stefan Svedberg recently returned to the Lejonkulan podcast. The previous episode featuring the company, recorded 18 months ago, is so far the most listened-to episode in the show's history.

From Momentum to Execution

In this latest conversation with host Jan Danielsson, Stefan Svedberg discusses how BeammWave is leveraging the momentum from its recent successful financing to accelerate the development of high-volume, production-ready chips. The episode explores the strategic shift from proving the technology to meeting the requirements of global industrialization.

Key topics covered in the episode include:

- Post-Financing Acceleration: Utilizing recent capital to drive the roadmap toward high-volume market readiness.
- The Timing of 6G: And how BeammWave contributes to the ongoing 3GPP efforts.
- The Power of IP: The role of BeammWave's extensive patent portfolio (now exceeding 40 patent families) in strengthening long-term competitiveness.
- Strategic Focus & Patient Capital: The necessity of long-term vision and "patient capital" when building a disruptive deep-tech company.
- What keeps the CEO up at night and the ambition of becoming a Unicorn.
