

BeammWave joins XG Mobile Promotion Forum

BeammWave joins the XG Mobile Promotion Forum (XGMF), a Japanese forum that aims to promote mobile services and the development of mobile businesses.

The forum consists of 82 member companies representing a major part of the Japanese telecom industry with operators and device and component manufacturers. In addition, there are also individual representatives mostly coming for Universities in Japan.

“Japan is a strong innovator with large and successful operators, several well-known global consumer brands, and with a world class supply chain for telecom. We as BeammWave are proud to be able to join and to continue to contribute to and learn from the other members of the organisation”, says Masanori Sakuuchi, Director of Sales Japan, at BeammWave.
