Soltech's Dutch subsidiary 365zon wins solar projects with an order value of SEK 71 million

365zon has once again won a solar energy auction for the Netherlands' largest association for homeowners, Vereniging Eigen Huis. The winning assignment means that 365zon will install solar panels on approximately 1,000 houses during Q3-Q4 2023. The order value for the deal amounts to approximately SEK 71 million.

The Dutch solar energy company 365zon was Soltech's first international acquisition when they were acquired in April 2022. The company, with approximately 60 employees, has once again won a solar energy order for the homeowners' association Vereniging Eigen Huis. The association organizes solar energy auctions to offer its members opportunities to obtain market-leading solar energy consulting and installation services.

This means that 365zon will install solar panels on approximately 1,000 houses during quarters three and four of this year.

– I'm happy to conclude that we once again gained this trust in times of intensifying competition. This achievement reflects the dedication and hard work of our team and our will to contribute to the green transition, says Lars Buuts, CEO of 365zon.

– They once again prove that they are one of the leading companies in the Dutch solar energy market. I truly admire Lars, Levi, Arjan and their teams strong aim to create remarkable solutions that exceed their customers' expectations, says Stefan Ölander, CEO of Soltech Energy.
