

Divio Technologies enhances scope with existing client and signs new client

Divio Technologies extends the contract with existing customer Girl Effect leading to an increased scope of services. The contract will result in an increase of MRR with USD 1000.

Also, Divio signs a new contract with a client in the financial industry helping start up companies. The customer is Village Capital and will start with an engagement of MRR increase of USD 200 and the collaboration can grow over time.

"We especially enjoy when our clients are choosing to put their confidence in Divios ability to manage their business critical applications. We enjoy it even more when they choose us again and again and also increase their engagement. For us it's a sign that what we are doing is right, creates value for our customers and brings peace of mind. We also want to welcome Village Capital to our group of customers. While starting small, this has the possibility to turn into a larger collaboration over time" says Jon Levin, CEO Divio Technologies.
