

Citira has agreed to acquire Malte Månson

Citira, a European tire management provider, has agreed to acquire Malte Månson, a Swedish truck and bus maintenance service provider, from private equity firm Accent Equity. By combining Citira's tire service with Malte Månson's vehicle maintenance, the two companies intend to build a convenient full-service offering for heavy vehicle fleets in Sweden and beyond.

Malte Månson is a renowned independent vehicle maintenance partner to truck and bus operators across Sweden. Across its 108-year track record, the company has built a reputation for dependable service day and night, deep expertise in servicing entire heavy vehicles from drivetrain to ancillary equipment, and a warm, friendly approach. In 2025, Malte Månson had a revenue of SEK 773m.

“Together with Malte, we can build a unique service offering for heavy vehicle fleets and users, delivering convenient and sustainable uptime, with only one point of contact for the customer,” says David Boman, CEO at Citira. “I am deeply impressed by the high-caliber team at Malte, which will be an excellent fit with our network of tire shops.”

“Citira felt like a natural fit for Malte. We share a position as an independent service-focused challenger. We share the same type of heavy vehicle customers for which we provide complementary services,” says Staffan Lindewald, CEO at Malte Månson. “With Citira, we can reach more customers, provide additional services to our existing ones and accelerate Malte's growth journey.”

The transaction, which is subject to customary closing conditions and receipt of regulatory approvals, is expected to be finalized during the third quarter of 2026. Staffan Lindewald and his management team colleagues will become co-owners of Citira.
