

Divio secures USD 3,000 Enterprise subscription

Divio Technologies AB ("Divio" or the "Company") today announces that it has agreed an Enterprise subscription with a new Switzerland-based digital agency for Divio's platform.

The agreement has an initial MRR value of approximately USD 3,000. As the collaboration develops and expands, Divio expects the contract value to grow over time.

"This agreement reflects the early traction we are seeing in our agency-led go-to-market strategy. Each new agency both expands our reach and supports scalable, recurring growth over time. While contributions are currently modest, they are important in validating our model and building a solid foundation for future growth as we scale commercial execution," says Jon Levin, CEO of Divio Technologies AB.
