

Danish specialist DEE joins XPartners

XPartners is broadening its Danish platform within infrastructure, energy and the public sector by welcoming DEE Teknisk Rådgivning to the group. DEE adds specialist expertise in commissioning, electrical and HVAC engineering as well as technical advisory across the full project lifecycle, from early planning through to operation.

Based in Støvring in Northern Jutland, DEE provides technical advisory and design within electrical, HVAC and ventilation, lighting and energy, complemented by commissioning management and client advisory. The company works as an independent advisor and supports clients throughout the entire technical construction process, from early advisory and design through to supervision, commissioning and handover, with its own specialists delivering the work.

“DEE services customers across the country based on deep customer understanding, solid technical expertise and high quality in deliveries. Its specialization in commissioning and technical advisory complements our Danish platform well and strengthens our Danish network, as well as our presence in Jutland. Having DEE as part of XPartners further expands the opportunities for collaboration across the group to the benefit of customers,” says Rasmus Ødum, Managing Director of XPartners Denmark.

“For us, this is about continuing to develop DEE with the same technical quality and close client dialogue that the business has been built on. As part of XPartners, we gain access to a broader network of specialist companies and new opportunities to take on larger and more complex assignments together,” says Kim Neumann Sørensen, Partner at DEE Teknisk Rådgivning.
