

Qliro appoints Christofer Zetterquist as interim CFO

Qliro AB (publ) today announces that Christofer Zetterquist has been appointed interim CFO. He assumes the role immediately, succeeding Carl Löfgren, who announced his decision to step down as CFO in September.

Christofer Zetterquist brings a solid background from the financial sector and extensive experience from senior positions. Most recently, he served as CFO at Skandiabanken, a position he has held since 2017. Prior to that, he was Head of Treasury at DNB Carnegie and has also held positions at EY and Accenture, as well as worked with product development at Nasdaq.

“We are pleased to welcome Christofer as interim CFO. His broad experience within banking and finance, combined with a strong track record from both senior executive and advisory roles, makes him well suited to lead our finance function during this transition period,” says Christoffer Rutgersson, CEO of Qliro.

The recruitment process for a permanent CFO is ongoing.
