

PRESS RELEASE

Lagercrantz acquires I Holland

Lagercrantz Group AB (publ) has today acquired 85% of the shares in I Holland Limited in the UK, a world-leading manufacturer of premium tablet compression tools for pharmaceutical tablet manufacturing.

Specialising in tablet tooling since 1946, I Holland is the world's longest established supplier of punches, dies and other critical products to tablet producers. In partnership with research institutions and scientists, I Holland creates innovative solutions for leading pharma companies in more than 100 countries. I Holland is based in Nottingham, England, and has turnover of GBP 27 million with good profitability. For a presentation of the company, please visit <https://tablettingscience.com/>.

"The acquisition of I Holland adds a truly global business to the TecSec division with strong growth potential and profitability – we look forward to continuing this development with the team", says Martin Sirvell, Head of Division TecSec within Lagercrantz.

"It is exciting to welcome another niche market leader and high-quality management team to Lagercrantz UK," says Andy Lister, CEO Lagercrantz UK.

"We are delighted to be embarking on the next phase of our company's history with a long-term and stable owner who can support I Hollands' continued development," says Javier Raposo, CEO of I Holland. The management team, comprising Javier Raposo, Rob Chatwin and Matthew Pullen, will continue to lead I Holland within the Lagercrantz Group and will together retain 15% of the shares in the company.

I Holland will be part of the TecSec division as of November 2025. The acquisition is expected to generate a small positive contribution to Lagercrantz Group's earnings per share on an annual basis.
