INVISIO receives Canadian order worth SEK 93 million

INVISIO has received an order under the Standing Offer with the Canadian Armed Forces. The order, placed through INVISIO's Canadian partner Simex Defence, is valued at SEK 93 million. Deliveries are planned for early 2027.

In August 2026, INVISIO was awarded a Standing Offer by the Canadian Armed Forces for tactical hearing protection and communication equipment. The Standing Offer, which is comparable to a framework agreement, has an initial term of two years, with an option to extend it for a further three years. It has a potential value of up to SEK 450 million. Order volumes are not guaranteed, and orders will be placed through call-offs during the agreement period.

The agreement was secured through INVISIO's Canadian partner, Simex Defence, a specialist supplier of tactical communications and soldier systems.

This order received under the Standing Offer is valued at SEK 93 million, with deliveries planned for early 2027.

"We are very pleased to have received this order and look forward to beginning deliveries to the Canadian Armed Forces. We are proud to support Canada's efforts to strengthen its defense capabilities by providing proven, mission-critical communication solutions. We look forward to further developing our cooperation in the years ahead," said Ray Clarke, INVISIO Senior Vice President Sales North America.
