

Enad Global 7 announces that Aliens: Fireteam Elite 2 will be released in the third quarter of 2026

Enad Global 7 (“EG7”) today announces Aliens: Fireteam Elite 2 (“AFE2”), a new title by Daybreak and Cold Iron Studios in collaboration with 20th Century Games. The game is a sequel to Aliens: Fireteam Elite and is scheduled for global release in late Q3 2026 on PlayStation 5, Xbox Series X/S, Epic Games Store, and Steam.

Cold Iron is the studio behind Aliens: Fireteam Elite (“AFE”), a cooperative third-person survival shooter set in the Aliens universe. The title established a strong foundation for the franchise and demonstrated the studio’s capabilities within the mid-market segment.

Aliens: Fireteam Elite 2 builds on this foundation, expanding the gameplay experience to four-player co-op, introducing new and enhanced class systems, and offering deeper progression and customization mechanics. The game is designed to increase player engagement through improved replayability and a broader range of combat scenarios.

The announcement marks a key milestone in EG7’s product pipeline and reflects continued progress in the Group’s strategy to develop and publish titles based on established IPs. As previously communicated, Cold Iron’s upcoming title is expected to be an important contributor to the Group’s performance in 2026, alongside other key titles in the portfolio.
