CEO Comments

2024 was a transformative year for Thunderful Group. We have taken critical steps to strengthen our financial control, streamline operations, and create a clearer path forward. The decision in November to focus more explicitly on game publishing in collaboration with external studios also marks an important change. The many changes throughout the year have laid the foundation for a more financially sustainable and flexible business.

During the fourth quarter, we implemented the restructuring program announced in November. The program aims to streamline our publishing operations and is expected to generate annual cost savings of 80–90 MSEK. At the same time, we are increasing our investment in publishing rights to strengthen our future game portfolio and create new revenue streams. One-time costs related to the restructuring are estimated at a maximum of 30 MSEK, of which 19 MSEK was recognized in the fourth quarter. Additionally, we have made write-downs of development costs, goodwill, and game rights amounting to 560 MSEK, of which 216 MSEK were related to the restructuring program and 344 MSEK were adjustments of acquisition-related goodwill values to better reflect market valuation of industry assets.

The Group's net revenue for the fourth quarter 2024 amounted to 77 MSEK (107), with an operating result of –632 MSEK (–555).

Publishing

In the Publishing segment, net revenue amounted to 49 MSEK (68), a decline explained by fewer game releases and one-time revenue during the same period last year. Costs have decreased due to reduced personnel expenses, as well as high one-time royalty costs in the comparison period. Transactional sales remained stable at approximately 45 MSEK (45), demonstrating the growing strength of our portfolio and the value of efficient back catalogue management.

Co-development & Services

For the Co-development & Services segment, net revenue for the quarter decreased to 29 MSEK (39), primarily due to lower revenue from Coatsink—a result of a reduced monthly billing rate in exchange for a revenue-sharing model for an upcoming game release. Revenue from Services remains limited and declined marginally compared to the same quarter last year.

Looking ahead to the future

Despite major challenges this year, we have seen improvements in our operational efficiency and financial control. These positive developments give us renewed confidence, which, combined with several exciting and important launches in 2025, make us optimistic about the future. Our commercial ambition for the year is clear: to ensure positive cash flow and create the necessary conditions for sustainable growth.

Our increased focus on collaboration with external game studios makes it easier to adapt to changing market conditions. This strategic choice results in lower fixed costs, greater flexibility, and improved control over our cash flow. At the same time, our remaining internal game studios ensure that we retain the long-term ability to capitalise on the creative and commercial potential of our own established IPs and brands.

The past year has not been easy for the organisation, and we still have challenges to overcome. However, the foundation has been laid to create long-term value in the coming years for shareholders, partners and players worldwide. I remain excited to lead Thunderful Group and I have confidence that, together with our incredibly talented and dedicated leaders and employees, we will succeed in making this happen.

Operational overview by segment

Thunderful Groups' operations are divided into two segments:

Publishing

The Publishing segment is dedicated to the development, marketing, distribution and commercialisation of digital games and intellectual properties (IPs). This includes projects developed internally by in-house studios as well as those created externally by third-party teams.

Revenue for the Publishing segment primarily comes from transactional sales (i.e. direct sales to consumers via online stores), supplemented by platform deals and collaborations with various marketing, commercialisation, and distribution partners. Back catalogue sales, which encompass all game titles released more than two years ago, contribute to form an essential and stable foundation of the segment's income.

The Publishing segment requires ongoing investments in capitalised game development projects which generally have a development cycle spanning several years before they can begin generating revenue. These investments are crucial for maintaining a steady and growing pipeline of high-quality game releases.

The long-term objective of the Publishing segment is to create commercially successful games and IPs that provide stable revenue streams with strong financial performance, ensuring sustained growth and profitability for the business.

Co-development & services

The Co-Development & Services segment offers a range of game development and publishing services to external partners.

Co-Development focuses on ideating, planning, and developing game projects in collaboration with external partners and licensees. This segment generates revenue through predictable work-for-hire arrangements with stable margins and can include revenue-sharing agreements. With external partners contributing funding, Thunderful Group can efficiently manage costs while fostering successful partnerships.

The Services business offers tailored support to third-party game developers who choose to self-publish. Utilizing the expertise and resources of the Publishing segment, services include business development, marketing support, release management, and strategic reviews. Revenue is generated through a combination of consulting fees and revenue-sharing agreements, ensuring predictable and stable margins.

The long-term objective of the Co-Development & Services segment is to be recognised as a best-in-class service provider, foster enduring relationships that contribute to partners' success, while generating predictable revenue and profits for Thunderful Group.
