

Flerie's portfolio company Xintela signs global collaboration and license agreement with EQGen Biomedical

Stockholm, Sweden, April 25, 2025. Flerie AB's (publ) portfolio company Xintela has announced that the company signed a definitive collaboration and license agreement with EQGen Biomedical Inc. to develop stem cell products.

The agreement grants EQGen global rights to Xintela's stem cell technology for veterinary musculoskeletal indications, including EQSTEM® for horses. Xintela will receive USD 1 million in license fees, USD 3 million worth of EQGen shares, and royalties up to low double digits.

"This is an important validation of Xintela's approach and an opportunity to bring EQSTEM® to the global veterinary market" says Karl Elmqvist, Investment Manager at Flerie.
