

VCON VVS-konsult joins XPartners

XPartners continues to grow in western Sweden and welcomes VCON VVS-konsult AB to the group. VCON is a well-regarded consultancy that since 1998 has delivered technical design services in HVAC, energy and indoor climate. The acquisition strengthens XPartners' offering in the Gothenburg region and adds in-demand specialist expertise.

VCON is headquartered in Mölndal and has around 20 employees. The company works with both new builds and refurbishments for public clients as well as private property owners. Its services include design of building services systems, energy calculations and energy audits, climate simulations, CAD and installation coordination, cost estimates at all stages of the building process, and site inspections. In the most recent financial year, the company generated just over SEK 31 million in revenue.

"VCON is a very strong addition that both broadens and deepens our capabilities in the Gothenburg region. The team brings long experience, a clear quality culture and a modern design methodology that fits well with our group. We look forward to developing the offering and growing together," says Magnus Trollius, CEO of XPartners Sweden.

VCON's assignments span the entire building process, from early stages through execution. The company is established in both refurbishment of existing properties and larger new-build projects, and often participates in design-and-build contracts with high requirements for energy efficiency and indoor climate.

"By now becoming part of XPartners, we can offer our people at VCON an exciting and developing future. Together with driven colleagues within XPartners who share our ambition to grow both individually and as a team, we will strengthen our service offering and create new business opportunities, while continuing to deliver the high quality our customers expect," says Daniel Grahn, CEO of VCON VVS-konsult AB.
