

W5 Solutions AB signs a distributor and partner agreement with Inflatech s.r.o for Sweden and Finland.

Inflatech is a leading designer and manufacturer of inflatable military decoys and targets with customers and users around the world including several NATO countries.

The decoys/targets have unique features and capabilities and are developed and tested in close cooperation with the military. Inflatech products are used in several domains such as the land and maritime domain. Due to the increased tension in several geographic areas, there is a significant demand for inflatable decoys, and the technology Inflatech brings.

"We have initiated a joint program with Inflatech, and with their knowledge and systems we see them as an important part of our product portfolio due to the brewing tensions in the world and the surge of need for military decoys," says Robert Dahlgvist, Executive Vice President and head of sales of W5 Solutions.

About INFLATECH S.R.O.

INFLATECH was established to fill a gap in the military decoys market. Most present decoys are used only for training purposes, while our products are designed to deceive, distract, conceal and protect. We decided to fill the gap, help avoid casualties and destruction, thus creating a safer, more peaceful world. We are a skilled team (over 10 years of experience) in design and production of decoys. We understand military needs – our products have been tested and developed in close cooperation with the armed forces.
