NOTE wins additional Security & Defence business with an estimated value of SEK 80–100 million

NOTE has secured additional business with an existing customer within Security & Defence, with an expected sales value of approximately SEK 80-100 million for delivery during 2027.

The additional business relates to the next phase of products already manufactured by NOTE and further strengthens the company's position as a key supplier to the customer. The increased business follows positive development in the customer relationship and continued improvements in NOTE's performance and delivery.

In addition to the increased business on existing products, NOTE has also qualified to participate in a larger framework covering potential new products, creating opportunities to further expand the customer relationship.

"We are very pleased to see our relationship with this important customer continue to develop. We have worked systematically to strengthen our performance and deliver on our commitments, and the additional business is a positive confirmation of the customer's confidence in NOTE. We also see good opportunities to continue growing the relationship going forward," says Johannes Lind-Widestam, President and CEO of NOTE.

The additional business is expected to contribute positively to NOTE's sales and growth during 2027.
