Acarix receives strategic order for the CADScor®System in US

Acarix today announces first order of the CADScor®System in the US from Apex Heart and Vascular Center led by renowned cardiologist Dr. Anuj Shah. The CADScor®System will be used at the New Jersey-based APEX clinics for rapid AI-based diagnostics of patients with chest pain.

“I’m excited about bringing the CADScor®System to our APEX clinics and evaluating the technology with our patients. This rapid-AI based technology can help improve the diagnosis of many patients experiencing chest pain and provide for rapid rule out of patients at low risk,” comments Dr. Anuj Shah, MD, Cardiologist and Founder of Apex clinics.

“This is a significant milestone for Acarix in the US. We are excited and looking forward to seeing the value that the CADScor®System will bring to Dr. Shah, his team and their patients,” comments Helen Ljungdahl Round, President and CEO of Acarix.

Dr. Shah is a renowned cardiac and vascular specialist. He holds 7 board certifications including Interventional Cardiology, Internal Medicine, and Cardiovascular Medicine. He is the Founder and Director of Apex Heart and Vascular Care, a modern facility with comprehensive cardiac care and cutting-edge technologies, keeping the principles of evidenced-based care and compassion. His mission is to bring his Manhattan-based cardiovascular expertise, coupled with a dedicated family-based approach, to his patients in New Jersey.
