Acconeer receives order from Digi-Key worth USD 400k

The order relates to the recently announced integration-ready modules XM123 and XM124 and related Evaluation Kit (EVK), as well as the EVK for the upcoming A121 pulsed coherent radar sensor. Digi-Key's global online platform, serving customers with evaluation kits and sensors intended for mass production, remains an important distribution channel for Acconeer.

The products will be available to purchase through Digi-Key's online store this summer.

“We look forward to seeing what innovative use cases our customers will implement with the new high-performance sensor A121 and its advanced capabilities. XM123 and XM124 are great additions to our Entry module portfolio which will strengthen our ability to supply to our customers in an environment with constrained component supply,” says Mikael Rosenhed, Head of Product Management, Acconeer.

In addition to publicly announced orders, Acconeer continuously receives orders of smaller amounts which are not publicly announced as they are not considered to affect the share price.
