MilDef wins OneCIS software deal and hardware orders from FMV worth SEK 139 million

MilDef has signed an agreement with the Swedish Defense Materiel Administration (FMV) regarding command and control systems for increased NATO interoperability and connectivity for the Swedish Army. The solution consists of MilDef's OneCIS software, hardware, and integration services. The agreement is initially worth SEK 139 million, with deliveries beginning in 2025. Depending on the outcome of options, the total value may amount to SEK 203 million.

MilDef has been supplying tactical IT to FMV since 1997. The latest order concerns the introduction of MilDef's software in the Swedish Army, a solution that is already in operational use in several Nordic countries and the Swedish Navy. Based on the OneCIS installation software, it enables efficient and secure communication at all necessary levels between cooperating units in the NATO system.

"FMV's confidence in us testifies to our ability to deliver a sought-after comprehensive solution with software, hardware, and integration services. MilDef's solution simplifies and streamlines communication and interoperability, which is particularly in demand now that the Swedish Armed Forces are an integrated part of NATO," says Daniel Ljunggren, President and CEO of MilDef.

MilDef's OneCIS software enables rapid deployment of tactical IT services to, for example, mobile command systems, tactical units, and rapid response forces.
