

MediRätt: MediKoll available on Android from December 23

As previously announced, MediKoll is to be made available to Android users. The company had communicated that this would happen in January 2017. However, the Android launch will now take place the day before Christmas Eve.

There will be a MediKoll Facebook campaign during the Christmas holiday period.

“It’s just fantastic that work has gone so well and that we can bring forward the launch of MediKoll for Android. We gather that user demand on Android is substantial, and now these users can also participate in the Christmas campaign,” says project leader Calle Sjönell, MediRätt board member and Head of Creative Shop Nordics at Facebook.

MediRätt in brief

An average of eight elderly people die, and a further 500 are admitted to hospital in Sweden every day due to drug side effects, even though a solution to the problem exists. This is also a serious issue worldwide. MediRätt’s business concept is to develop and market products that support more qualitative and safer healthcare in the home on the Swedish and international market. The Company has developed MediKoll and Dosell, which together form a unique overarching concept that ensure the elderly receive reliable and safe medication.
