Ann-Christine Fick resigns as CFO

STOCKHOLM, Sweden – Ann-Christine Fick has on her own request, after approximately six years at the company, decided to terminate her employment at Nepa where she has held the position as CFO since February 2020.

“I have had a fantastic journey at Nepa. I joined the company only a couple of months before the initial public offering and have, in my various roles at the finance department until the position as CFO, been a part of the company’s growth and development. Due to personal reasons, I have chosen to seek a new kind of challenge that fits better with my personal situation. I am very grateful for my time at Nepa where I have learned a lot,” says Ann-Christine Fick.

“I want to thank Ann-Christine for her great commitment and contribution to the company for the past six years and I wish her the best of luck in the future,” says CEO Ulrich Boyer.

The process of finding a replacement has begun, and Ann-Christine Fick will remain as the company’s CFO until mid-December.
