C-RAD the third fastest-growing healthcare company in Sweden

In the Deloitte Sweden Technology Fast 50, C-RAD placed third in the ranks of fastest-growing companies. The ranking considers revenue growth over the last five years.

The ranking includes technology companies in a number of sectors. In the overall ranking C-RAD is the 19th fastest-growing company. C-RAD successfully made the ranks in 2013 as well.

Deloitte Sweden Technology Fast 50 is the only cross-industry ranking of technology companies in Sweden, and is now in its eleventh year. The ranking includes public and private companies, large and small, in every technology sector, from Internet specialists to life sciences and green tech, and from computers, semiconductors and software to telecommunications. Growth is measured as revenue growth over the last five years according to annual reports filed 2009-2013 with the Swedish Companies Registration Office per July 31, 2014.

“This is a fantastic result,” says Tim Thurn, CEO of C-RAD. “Our excellent team is the whole reason for this success. In the past few years we have focused on expanding our international sales organization in key markets as well as on optimizing our technology to serve the clinical needs of customers. There is still high growth potential in the current product portfolio.”
