

Azelio wins Innovate46 pitch competition at Nasdaq, New York

Voted company with the highest potential to succeed in the US Market, Azelio wins at Innovate46 in competition with eight other hand-picked cleantech companies. Nasdaq Innovate46 in New York is part of Greenvate46, organised by the Swedish Energy Agency and the Swedish-American Chamber of Commerce (SACCNYS).

Inviting exceptional companies whom have demonstrated sustainable innovation and impact, the Swedish Energy Agency and SACCNYS organised Innovate46. The accelerator program, connecting handpicked scaleup companies with investors and key industry actors, included sessions on rules and regulations of the U.S. markets, culminating in pitch competition.

Azelio, represented by Executive Vice President Jonas Wallmander, secured the win and was subsequently voted the company with the highest potential to succeed in the US market.
