

HANZA receives certificate for information security

HANZA Holding AB (publ), a leading provider of complete manufacturing solutions, has received ISO 27001 certification for the Information Security Management System (ISMS). This is a further confirmation of HANZA's commitment to fulfil and comply with the highest level of international requirements regarding data security and customer data protection.

"Secure information management is crucial for a contract manufacturer. The certification means that we maintain a high level of security controls, information technology and cybersecurity for our customers." says Erik Stenfors, CEO of HANZA."

Following an extensive audit process, the certification was issued by Lloyd's Register Quality Assurance Limited. Certificate holders are continuously and rigorously audited to ensure they follow the required procedures and policies and show continuous improvement.
